

Leeds Children's Theatre (Leeds Arts Centre) gives "Beauty and the Beast" at the Civic Theatre for two weeks beginning next Monday, with matinees on the two Saturdays, Dec. 4 and 11.

The show is already booked up except for Saturday evenings. Children from the National Children's Home, Bramhope, the School for Deaf, Farnley and Leeds Homes are being entertained at one performance. Several parts are doubled up because of the number of performances. With wig and fangs, but not too fearful, will be Ronald Wilkinson and Douglas Butterfield, taking turns at being the Beast. Arthur Ridley and Gordon Caleb play the Wizard, while Dorothy Crosbard and Christine Hudson play Beauty.
